

One Day Training Workshop
On
Emergency Rescue Services (E.R.S. 1122),
Bacha Khan University, Charsadda
January 24, 2018

The Office of Research, Innovation and Commercialization (ORIC), Bacha Khan University, Charsadda and Emergency Rescue Services (E.R.S. 1122), Peshawar, arranged jointly a One Day Training Workshop on January 24, 2018 in the auditorium of the University for creating awareness on the rescue system in case of emergencies.

Three different presentations were made on the following topics:

- i. Rescue 1122 Awareness
- ii. Medical First Aid in case Emergencies
- iii. Fire and Fire Safety Measures

More than 70 students and faculty of the university participated in the long day training workshop. Director, (ORIC) in his opening remarks highlighted the importance of the ERS-1122 and stressed upon the participants that the presentation to be delivered today is of very importance for all of us as with every passing day the population increases creating increased road accidents and other related problems.

The instructors gave detailed presentations on the above topics and the role of the civil society in minimizing the casualties in case of various incidents. They stressed upon for kthe increased cooperation of the students to play their due in this regard being one of the most important component of the society.

